Yes, sorry, assuming we get the court date, the target shut off date will be May 15. The have not estimated time to return unit yet.

We can discuss next week.

When you say target, what specifically are you referring to— turn off date?

Jeff,

I was talking about we are open to discussing how to end the hosting with Core for GEM 4 in order to save you guys from having to cancel the contract in in bankruptcy court. We would need to discuss the following to make that happen:

1. No disconnect fee
2. Clear shutoff dates and packing timelines set.
3. Packing units in GEM 1 and GEM 4 by serial numbers into certain groups.

Thanks,
John

John – let's try to find some common ground on GEM 4..... What would allow us to move forward together knowing that we are currently operating below cost? I'm open to working with you and then getting something to Mike for Ceo approval.

I can work over email or by phone, whatever works best for you

Jeff,

GEM 4 went ahead and told us that they are not interested in the proposed terms from Core.

Unlike GEM 1, we are open to working something out to bypass the bankruptcy court.

Joe & John,

I am sorry to hear that. Legal will need a couple days to look at workload and when they can petition the court. Operations will need to look at the schedule. It might take me until Tuesday to have an answer.

Thanks,

[EXTERNAL] Use caution when opening attachments or links.

We would like to discuss when the GEM 1 contract will be cancelled and timing of the units being shut down and packed up.

We should have feedback by Friday morning on GEM 4.

Hey Jeff,

GEM 1 is going to pass on the revised contract terms with Core.

We are discussing with GEM 4 to see if we can get something worked out with them and will let you know.

Thanks,
Joe
